

Dear Family,

We are delighted to have welcomed your child at The Dalí Museum with their class. Our interactive tours encourage students to look, think, share, and respond. We engage them in conversations about works of art and ideas, and help them build important creativity skills.

But don't take it from us. Ask your child to tell you about their trip to The Dalí! Better yet, visit the Museum with your child and have them give you a tour of the artworks they learned about during their field trip.

We hope to see you and your family soon!

Best,

Claire Raimist
